GCC market performance - Dec'11

Market review:

The GCC markets had another mixed month during December. For the NAV month over month the KSE was +0.32%, Saudi +4.83%, Dubai -2.76%, Abu Dhabi -2.92%, Oman +4.59%, Qatar +2.35%, and Bahrain -0.95%.

Most of the GCC markets closed strongly on the last working day of 2011 with institutional investors pulling up prices to support valuations. Qatar was the only GCC market with positive performance for 2011 returning 1.51% followed by Saudi which lost around -3.33%. All other GCC index losses were in double digits with Bahrain performing the worst with a -20.05%. The year 2011 was very turbulent for the region with the Arab spring and the problems in Bahrain and the political crisis in Kuwait. While the GCC fundamentals remain intact the year 2012 is expected to be a challenge for all investors due to the uncertainty in the global economics and eroded investor confidence.

On the global front, markets rose before heading into Christmas. Investors cheered the modest improvement in US consumer spending and two-month payroll tax cut extension. Volumes remained light after the Christmas break with subdued trading activity. Renewed concerns over the Eurozone debt crisis weighed investor confidence the euro slipped to an 11-month low against the dollar. Investors remained wary after Italy's disappointing debt auction with 10-year bond yields staying close to 7%. However, positive economic data in the US pending home sales rose to a 1.5-year high in November lifted investor sentiment on Thursday.

Fund review:

The Al-Ahli Gulf Fund recorded a gain of +3.340% MTD and -10.441% YTD. The S&P GCC Composite Price Index was +2.70% MTD and -8.05% YTD mainly due to the Saudi weight factor of the index. The Gulf Funds gain since inception stood at +69.306%, the NAV of the fund was KD 0.758059 on the NAV date.

The fund manager has continued to take into account the volatility of the region as a whole in deciding the asset mix while accumulating stocks with operational income and strong fundamentals, this approach in turn is expected to reflect on the Fund's overall future performance. The current GCC allocations remain stable with a selective allocation of Blue Chip stocks across the region. The fund holdings are constantly monitored for the various risk factors by our investment team and appropriate action to rebalance the country allocation, cash percentages, as well as sector allocations is taken when needed.
