GCC market performance -Jan'14

Market review:

All of the GCC indices ended January in the green. UAE's DFM (up 11.89%) was the highest gainer, while Saudi's KSA was the lowest (up 2.64%).

Saudi Arabia's broad money supply growth (M3) slowed to 10.9% YoY at the end of December 2013. The central bank's net foreign assets reached a record SAR2.69tn (USD716.7bn) in December 2013. According to Fitch, Saudi banks would continue their strong performance in 2014 with abundant lending opportunities due to a favorable economic outlook. The prospects for Saudi Arabia's economy are expected to be strong due to high oil prices, significant government spending on infrastructure projects, and an expanding non-oil private sector. According to the UAE Ministry of Economy, Foreign Trade Sector, FDI in the UAE is expected to increase 20% YoY in 2014 to USD14.4bn from USD12bn in 2013 due to an ideal economic and investment environment. FDI would grow as new infrastructure projects to support the Dubai Expo 2020 commence. The IMF raised its growth forecast for UAE to 4.5% for 2014. Real GDP would remain firm driven by growth in non-oil activity. Oil growth could be limited due to ample global supply. According to Statistics Centre - Abu Dhabi, the emirate's inflation increased 1.3% YoY in 2013. Qatar's Inflation increased 2.7% YoY (unchanged on a MoM basis) in December 2013, primarily due to high rents. According to a financial institution, the growth in loans and deposits improved among Qatar-based banks in December 2013. Fitch affirmed the Bahrain's long-term issuer default rating (IDR) at 'BBB' and local currency IDR at 'BBB+', with a stable outlook. Fitch expects growth to remain steady, supported in the medium term by GCC funding. Real GDP is estimated to expand 4.9% in 2013 compared with a 3.4% growth in 2012. Oman's broad money supply (M2) increased 4.6% to OMR11.5bn in November 2013 from OMR11bn in the year-ago period.

The S&P GCC Composite Price Index on the NAV date was +3.39% MTD.

The current GCC allocations remain stable with a selective allocation of Blue Chip stocks across the region. The fund holdings are constantly monitored for the various risk factors by our investment team and appropriate action to rebalance the country allocation, cash percentages, as well as sector allocations is taken when needed.
