GCC market performance - May'11

Market review:

All of the GCC markets except the KSA were in the Red during May. For the month the KSE was -1.41%, Saudi +0.72%, Dubai -6.26%, Abu Dhabi -2.58%, Oman -5.73%, Qatar -1.23%, and Bahrain -4.01%.

During the Month the major GCC markets took a hit after a better prior month. Investor confidence was affected by the regional issues in the Arab world. The uncertainty in Syria compounded with the issues of a downgrade possibility on the US debt all caused the markets to be very volatile. Institutional investors and high net worth's seem to be adopting a wait and watch attitude. Fundamentals of the GCC region are intact and with the current level of oil prices we expect things to get better as the regional nerves settle down.

Fund review:

The Al-Ahli Gulf Fund recorded a loss of -2.232% MTD and -4.307% YTD. The S&P GCC Composite Price Index was -1.47% MTD and -2.55% YTD mainly due to the Saudi weight factor of the index. The Gulf Funds gain since inception stood at +74.977%, the NAV of the fund was KD 0.814772 on the NAV date.

The fund manager shall continue to take into account the volatility of the region as a whole in deciding the asset mix and cash percentages this approach in turn has and will continue to reflect on the Fund's overall future performance. The current GCC allocations remain stable with a selective allocation of Blue Chip stocks across the region. The fund holdings are constantly monitored for the various risk factors by our investment team and appropriate action to rebalance the country allocation, cash percentages, as well as sector allocations is taken when needed.
